CJI Ultimate Illusion I (Norfolk)

Hi Chris Just received my new bat and it is astonishing. When I first took it out of the box I thought you'd sent me a limited edition bat by accident, it is huge but yet still picks up like a dream. I can't thank you enough for both the bat and your superb service. Also the ambassador voucher was a very nice touch. Thanks again Adam.

CJI Sumo Limited Edition (Australia)

Hi Chris, just thought you may be interested. My LE Sumo has helped me make 111 runs so far this season with half a season to go and that I had only made 118 in my previous 2 seasons combined.

Everyone who I play against is stunned and impressed with the bat, and all want to have a good look and a swing of it after our match is finished. We even had a representative game at our home ground and our secretary came to my home and asked to borrow my bat as the juniors who were playing had heard about the "big bat" of a Coleraine player and wanted to know how big.

They were amazed and I've had people very interested in the bat to the point where half of my teammates want to use it when they go out to bat !!!!

It really is a great bat. When I first took it to training, a couple of teammates laughed at it and wondered how I could even lift it, let alone swing it.

But they have changed their tune now.

Thanks for a great bat, I love it.

Its awesome wieghing in at 3lb.10oz.when it arrived it had been oiled as it smelt of oil so i oiled it lightly again b4 knocking it in for an hour.i was told that it needs 2 hrs of knocking in b4 u can use it in the nets and then matches.i took it to a game last week and smashed 114 off bout 75 balls,it is fantastic-and the funny thing is it

was'nt all the way knocked in!!!!.Some massive blows for six!!!! neway since then i knocked it in for another hr and sanded it down to oil it for the last time for the winter period.what i want to know is do i need an anti scuff face for it or can i just keep the blade as it is? its all ready for winter nets now so i just wanted some advice please.it truly is awesome and for someone who bats like me (a power hitter at the top of the order it is perfect)

Hiya Chris,

This is Charlie using my Dads email. I would just though you would like to know that I used the Fatso for the first time today in an indoor game/training session and WHOA! What a middle that bat has! I hit 6 sixes overall with 4 of them in just one over! Plus to go along with that I hit a good few fours!

Thanks.
